Madison House Director of Advancement

Background

For more than fifty years, Madison House has served as the volunteer center for students at the University of Virginia. In a typical year, thousands of students work weekly volunteer shifts through Madison House at area nonprofits, schools, and healthcare facilities. Madison House builds community partnerships to address community needs, while focusing on the educational and professional growth of our student volunteers.

Job Purpose

The Director of Advancement will take a senior leadership role at Madison House. They will be a strong collaborative partner with the Executive Director, Director of Communications, Programs and Operations staff, students, board members, and University partners.

The Director of Advancement will spearhead all development efforts at Madison House. Working closely with University Advancement, and with direct access to UVA’s Advance database, the highly motivated Director of Advancement will lead efforts to realize the full giving potential of our Madison House alumni – one of the largest alumni constituencies at the University of Virginia.

The Director of Advancement will lead the coordination of Madison House’s $10M comprehensive campaign, and achieve or exceed an annual fundraising goal of $850,000 for the organization. Madison House’s efforts embody the core UVA tenets of student leadership and self-governance, and align with the goals of the University’s Honor the Future campaign. Although Madison House partners closely with the University, it is an independent 501(c)(3) non-profit organization.

This position reports directly to the Executive Director.
